

HERO'S ADVENTURE!

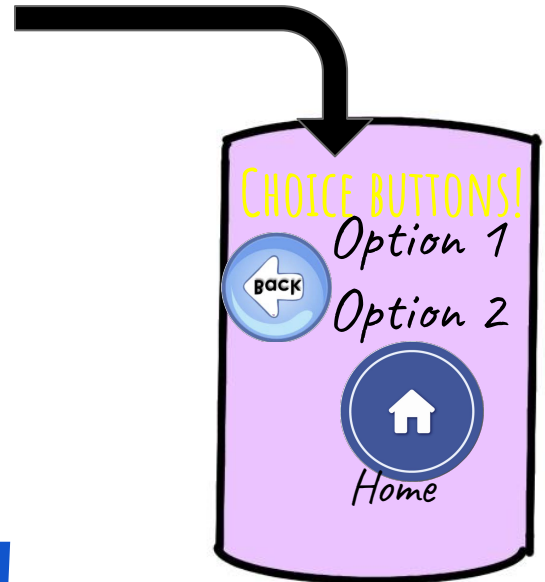

Title: HERO'S ADVENTURE!

Check out my special adventure! When you're finished, try it again and see what other choices you can make!

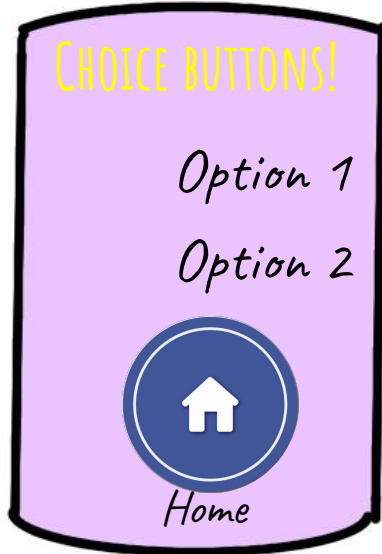

These are the your choice buttons. You can click either option 1 or option 2 if you want to go forward. If you don't want the story to end like how it is or don't like what option you chose, just click back to go to the previous page or click home if you want to start again.

Click here to begin!

Page 1

Does your puppy like to play with a ball? Of course! Hero is no different. Except... he wants to play basketball! How will he do this?

Page 2

Since Hero's owner, Katrina, also played basketball but was at work, Hero was taking the opportunity to try basketball. He ran as fast as he could, which is not really fast, outside to bounce Katrina's basketball. But then... the basketball slipped and set off down stairs!

Later, Hero thought about how he could play basketball but then, he couldn't be bothered and went back to sleep. He was already the best sleeper in the world. So why the best basketball player?

THE END!

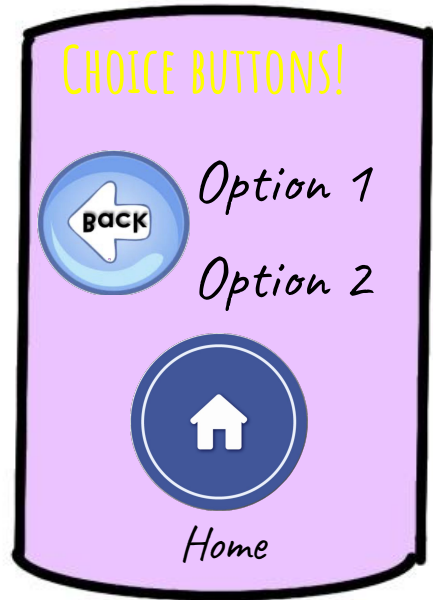

Hero hoped that the basketball didn't crash into anything! So, he walked around the kitchen looking for it. Hero looked all around the house but couldn't find it. Then he searched again. And again. And again.

Hours later, Hero never ended up finding it, so he gave up and hoped Katrina never would realise that her basketball disappeared!

THE END!

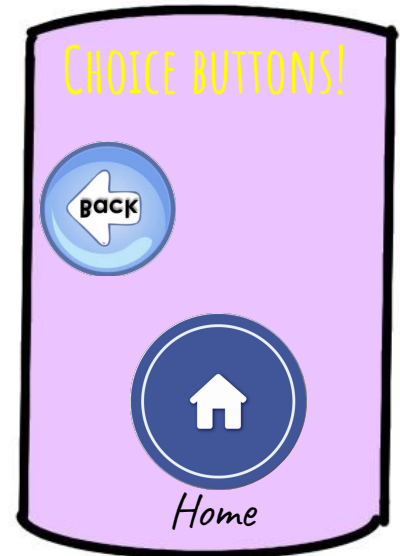

Page 5 Hero rolled down the stairs and all of a sudden... two buttons magically popped up! He didn't know what to do...

At first, Hero thought that the buttons were his imagination. He blinked a few times and again looked. They were still there! Hero barked and ran away! He thought that if he sleeps, he will forget everything that happened that day!

THE END!

Hero was being a brave little puppy, so he read what the buttons wrote. One of the buttons said 'if you press this, you will turn into a human.' The other one said 'Turn into a dog.'

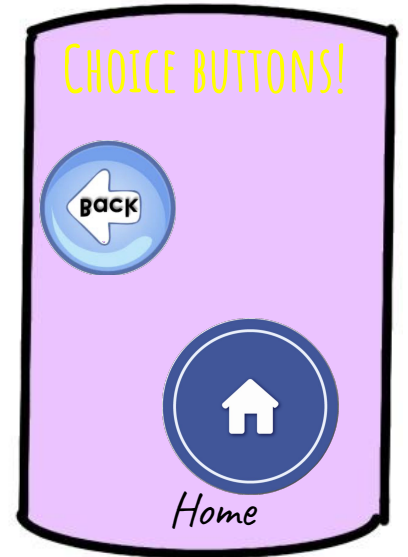

Hero decided to bravely click on a button...

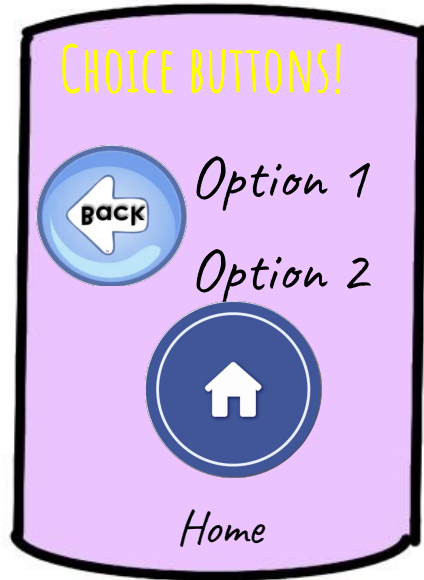

Hero was just being a dumb puppy so clicked both of them, got an electric shock and ran away! He hated the feel of it.

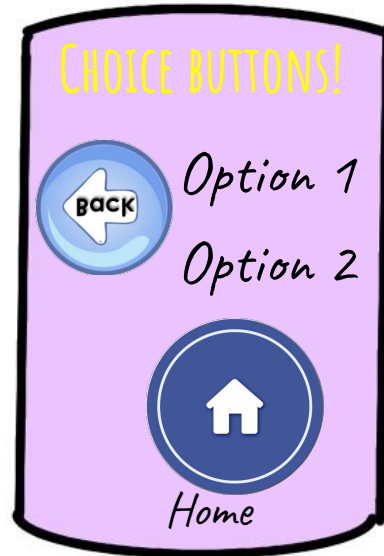

THE END!

Seconds later, he clicked on the dog button thinking it was a trick. But, it didn't work!

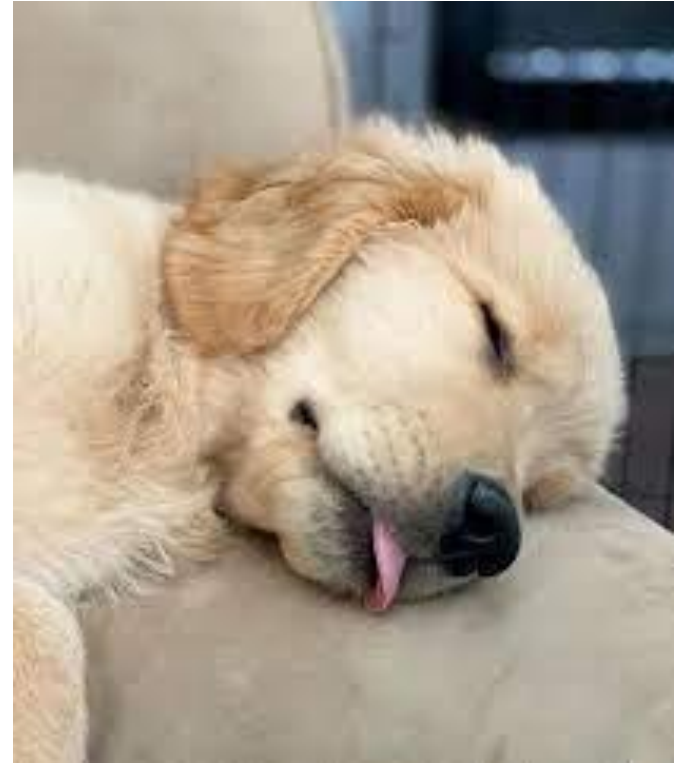

Hero wanted to click the other button, which was the transform into a human button, and suddenly... he became a human! He observed his human like body and was amazed! What do you think Hero will do next?

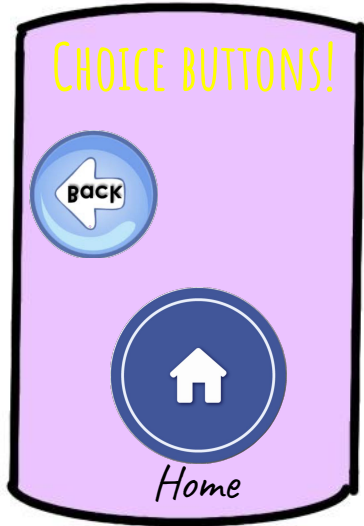

Nothing happened. He clicked it a few times again, but again, nothing happened. Hero thought that the buttons didn't work, so ran to sleep.

THE END!

THE END!

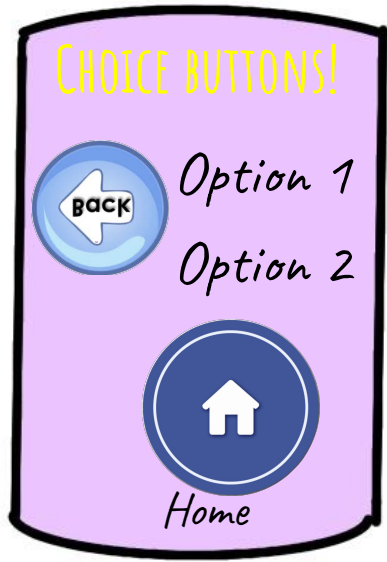

Hero thought that, as a human, he would be amazing! So he grabbed onto Katrina's basketball and ran out the door. Minutes later, when he jumped onto the basketball court, everyone was watching... HE FAILED! Everyone started screaming, "BBBBOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO!!!!!!!" Hero was the most embarrassed he'd ever been in his life, hated being a human and ran back home to transform into an adorable puppy once again

Hero doesn't like being embarrassed so he practiced at home. After, when he realised how awesome he was, he left. Everyone loved Hero's style of basketball, so...

Everyone loved Hero SO much that they wanted his autograph. Obviously, Hero didn't know how to write, so he just scribbled on everyone's paper. Everyone started murmuring about Hero to each other and a person also asked "Can you please teach us how to play basketball. You're dribbling is as fast as lightning and your shooting is as clean new shoes. PPPPLLLLLLLEEEEEAAAAASSEEE?" "Ok, ok." replied Hero being very convinced. Minutes later, Hero started teaching the audience how to play.

All of a sudden... people were extremely jealous of the magnificent Hero, so, they started sabotaging him! While Hero hopped out for a drink brake, some jealous people replaced his basketball with a basketball that's filled with water! As Hero jumped back on the court, he grabbed the basketball, which he didn't know was filled with water, and started dribbling... Suddenly, the basketball exploded and splattered all of the gross water onto Hero! Many laughed! Some even kicked Hero! He got really embarrassed and hated being a human so ran back home to sleep.

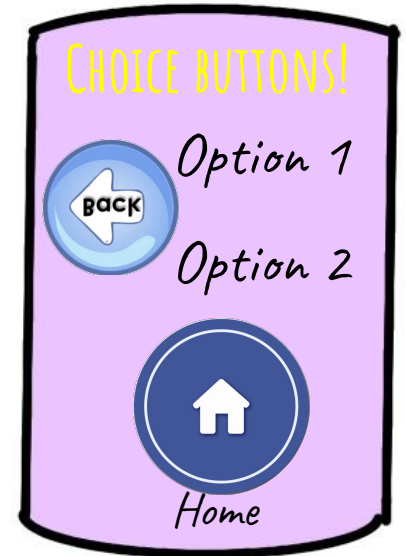

THE END!

CHOICE BUTTONS!

Home

Hero was loving basketball and his fans way too much, so decided never to go home. He ended up becoming an NBL player and was the most successful one.

CHOICE BUTTONS!

Home

THE END!

When Katrina arrived home, nothing was the same... he called Hero's name but there was no answer. "Where could that adorable pup be? He always runs up on me when I'm home!"

Katrina searched all over the house. But he wasn't there. She checked at her neighbours, but, he wasn't there! Lastly, she jumped out to the haunted forest and yep, he wasn't there! As Katrina walked in the forest, she lost track of how to get home. She also forgot her phone at home!

When Katrina arrived home, she called for Hero. But no, he didn't bark or jump up to Katrina. Katrina didn't care about Hero so just bolted to the couch and watched TV.

THE END!

Page 20 When Hero realised that Katrina was coming back home from work, he said “Good night! Love you!” to his fans.

As soon as Hero arrived home, which was just before his owner was about to return, he quickly got hold of the transform into human button and pressed it. Hero felt a bit of a buzz and ran to his puppy bed, pretending nothing happened, waiting for Katrina to give him some love!

Click here to continue!

THE BAD
END!

Try again?

Thank you for reading!

Try again?